JENNIFER REYNOLDS BIO

The idea for Sauce Goddess had been brewing for many years when finally in 2000 Jennifer Reynolds finally took a leap of faith and started her own grilling sauce company. After spending 15 years in the printing industry Jennifer was ready for something new, but she didn't know anything about the packaged food industry so decided to start small. Using friends and family as taste testers she honed her recipes and started cooking and packaging out of her home. After some bumps in the road Sauce Goddess became successful enough in 2008 to leave her VP role at Reynolds Graphic Arts and the printing business for good. Jennifer still draws on her design and packaging knowledge she picked up while earning a BS/GRC degree from California Polytechnic State University, San Luis Obispo.
